Marks, ethics and your rights

12 Use of the certificate and the GAICC marks

Certified persons may state that they hold the certification while it is valid and use the GAICC certification mark in accordance with the Use of Certificates and Marks procedure. The certification applies to the named individual, is not transferable, and must not be used misleadingly or to imply accreditation that has not been granted. Lapsed or withdrawn certificants must cease use of the certification and marks.

13 Code of ethics

Candidates and certified persons agree to the GAICC Code of Ethics — acting with integrity, competence and objectivity, protecting confidential information, and using the credential honestly. Breaches may lead to withdrawal of certification.

14 Appeals, complaints and misconduct

A candidate may appeal a certification decision, and anyone may raise a complaint, through GAICC's Appeals and Complaints process; appeals are handled impartially by people not involved in the original decision. Suspected
